John Thomas Says That He Paid Fifty Dollars for a "Fifty-

John Thomas Brady was beaten in a horse trade last evening by the driver of Salvage Corps, No. 3. Brady claims to have bought an equine "gold brick" and he wants his money back.

Three weeks ago one of the Salvage Corps horses was condemned, because of a defect in the near hind leg. John Thomas Brady trades largely in condemned city horses and wagons. He called upon Chief Evans, ofgand gave him a receipt. With this John Thomas Brady went straight to Salvage Corps. No. 3.

Before Brady arrived Chief Evans had telephoned the driver not to deliver the condemned horse unless the full $46 additional were paid, and then to be sure not to give Mr. Brady a span of good horses with a wagon attached. When John Thomas arrived he offered $35 and the receipt for the horse, saying that he would pay the remaining $10 the next week. The driver hold to his instructions, and Brady departed with the necessary $46 and led away the horse, saying that it was a bargain at twice that price. In his haste he had not examined the horse at the stable, He had not noticed that the bandages had been changed from one hind leg and horse had fallen in trying to back out of his stall, cutting his off hind leg and wrenching it severely. The driver of Company No. 3, expecting Brady, in the morning, had washed the horse from head to foot, smoothed over the old injury and bandaged the new. When Brady discovered the deception he was dumfounded, He hunted up Chief Evans. "I want my money back," exclaimed Brady. "This plug is a gold brick. He ain't worth 50 cents."

But Chief Evans told him that all he knew of the matter was that a condemned horse had been sold, nothing being specined as to the animal's condition. Brady departed, saying that he would use his "salve."

Riot Call Turned In to Quell Disturbance in Boardroom at Edwardsville-St. Louis Stockholders Took Part-Managers Selected for the Allied East Side Traction Lines.

GEORGE F. HECKEL. CYRUS F. BLANKE. Both were principals in a lively scrimmage, which was the result of an argument at a directors' meeting in Edwardsville.

The negotiations for the transfer of the Mississippi Valley Transit Company's lines and franchises on the East Side to the Kobusch-Forman interests, representing the management of the East St. Louis-Belleville lines, culminated in a battle in a directors' meeting in Edwardsville yesterday afternoon, in which half a dozen St. Louisans took part. The deal was made about a week ago, but several hitches have occurred in the transfer, due to efforts of minor stockholders to block the sale.

A directors' meeting was called at Edwardsville for yesterday afternoon to discuss the disposition of the property, the St. Louis-Belleville Traction Company having acquired a majority of the stock. When it was called a plan was unfolded whereby C. F. Blanke of St. Louis, president of the company, was to be deposed, and W. M. Warnock of Edwardsville made president. Attorney W. E. Fisse of St. Louis, repre-senting Mr. Blanke and his friends, protested, but the motion was adopted, all of the old officers were thrown out and new ones elected. Mr. Blanke has heavy holdings in the company and has been its backer all along, and he and his friends were wroth at the action taken.

How the Trouble Occurred. Mr. Fisse and Mr. Warnock, the latter just elected president, had a war of words, the former criticising Mr. Warneck's operations. Retorts grow warmer and in a mo-ment the men were striking at each other. George P. Heckel of St. Louis is said to

Mr. Blanke in the eye.
While J. F. Conrad, Henry Gaus of St.
Louis and others were attempting to separate the combatants, Attorney George D.
Burroughs sent in a riot call, and Chief of Police Dennis Hentz answered in person.
When he arrived at the office of Travous, Warnock & Burroughs, where the trouble occurred, hostilities were over.

The altercation attracted much attention and a big crowd gathered on Washington avenue. Attorney Warnock is master-inchancery in Madison County. The trouble was entirely between members of the Mississippi Valley Company, and the other line was not represented in it.

New Officers Elected.

Soon after the conflict John M. Bramlette of Belleville, general manager of the Belleville lines, arrived in the city in a carriage with H. W. Sebastian of St. Louis, chief engineer of the Mississippi Valley lines. They had driven over from Collinsville. The new officers elected by the old company are: W. M. Warnock, president; Doctor J. L. R. Wadsworth of Collinsville, vice president; Henry Gaus of St.
Louis, secretary and treasurer; H. W. Sebastian, general manager; George P.
Heckel of St. Louis, assistant manager.
The actual control of the road has passed into the hands of the management of the allied East Side lines, and they will proceed to complete the line to Edwardsville.
George P. Heckel said last night regarding the trouble at the meeting: "A slight disturbance was caused by Mr. Fisse, attorney for Mr. Blanke, objecting to the adoption of a resolution offered by Mr. Warnock, and attacking that gentleman upon his insisting on action on the motion offered by him. Other members of the board quickly interfered, and the meeting was thereafter held without any further trouble."

tor Thomas P. Davison, proprietor of the Rose Hill Sanitarium, in the rear of No. 5722 Easton avenue, alleging assault on Miss Freddie Roberts of Centralia, Mo. He furnished bond in the sum of $290. The trial is set for July 25.

The charges made by Miss Roberts are that last Tuesday afternoon she and the doctor disagreed as to treatment given her. Later, Miss Roberts alleges, in the diningroom in the basement, the doctor became angry, slapped her, beat her head against the floor and threatened to beat her with a broomstick. She escaped and ran to a neighbor's.

Influence to make him a dangerous factor in the race.

Senator Burton, who favored the candidacy of Crum, did not wish to antagonize the Carpenter faction, so he promised a position of equal emolument to their candidate if he would withdraw from the marshalship race. This was agreed to, and Crum received his appointment.

The question of where to place Carpenter was then taken up, and the Indian Territory was turned to for a probable opening. All of the fat Government positions were filled by administration men, so recourse was had to the Cherokee tribal organization.

Buffington and Burton Confer.

Chief Buffington was wired to meet Senator Burton at the Coffeyville, Kas., Fourth of July celebration. He compiled with the request, and Senator Burton broached the question of supplanting Judge Springer, a Democrat, by a Republican,

He argued that if the Indians expected anything from the present administration they would have to be represented at Washington by a Republican, and illustrated this point by a reference to the failure of Judge Springer in the recent Klowa injunction proceedings. He also promised his support if he could name the man. Chief Buffington, it is said, promised him the appointment and he immediately named Carpenter, Yesterday Carpenter and Foley arrived here and registered at the hotel as "F. T. Foley and friend." Chief Buffington was closeted with them for several hours, during which the deal was discussed.

The consent of the Cherokee National Council will have to be obtained, but as the Buffington party controls that body the deal can go through. The position carries a salary of $5,000 a year. Buffington and Burton Confer.
